Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

"As Maine goes, so goes the nation." It is not always true, but it has been a rule, to which there have been very few exceptions. To see Maine going Republican by a greater majority than it went Democratic four years ago, gladdens the hearts of all Black Republicans. This victory, inspite of the President's virtual promise, while he was sailing along the Maine shores and sojourning briefly there during his recent vacation, that something will be done about 'Quoddy', that project dear to the administration heart but utterly rejected by U. S. Army engineers and the usually subservient Congress, takes on an added significance.

Meantime the Literary Digest continues its straw ballot, the first consignment of which forecast the coming Maine triumph, and as the postal votes roll in through Mr. Farley's postoffices, other states show a decided trend away from Tugwell, Hopkins Ickes & Co., away from the fleshpots filled with 6,000,000 little pigs, away from the golden voice at the mike, away from the cloudburst of U. S. Treasury checks raining on the just and the unjust, in short, away from the rosy pink path to a dictatorship, and back to national rectitude, where charity begins at home and the neighbors attend to it, where every man strives as best he can to maintain and defend the bill of rights which guarantees him life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, with only enough intervention on the part of the National Government to see to it that these rights of the individual citizen are not abridged by avaricious and greedy groups.

We also are willing to concede with any Democrat or other advocate and defender of the Roosevelt administration that he has done well in these things:

Securities regulation; civilian conservation corps; putting the price of gold at the world price; inaugurating and assisting public works projects through the PWA; partially insuring bank deposits; and speaking generally, in preventing anyone from going hungry in this rich land.

But having admitted these fine things accomplished by the Roosevelt administration when we come to measure the staggering cost, the tremendous waste, only equalled when the nation engaged in a world war, we must choose between a continuance and a cessation of prodigal government spending. In efffect Landon assures that those measures which all thinking and patriotic citizens of this country regard as good, will, in event of his election be continued, but that he will seek to balance the budget, to make both ends meet for the government just as every independent, upstanding American strives to do for his family.

That the country is swinging rapidly to this line of reasoning is evidenced by the utter defeat of Couzens in Michigan, a Republican who espoused the New Deal, by the Landon-slide in Maine, and to certain extent by the poll now being conducted by the Literary Digest.

Attention is called to the fact that one of the major considerations which led to the tremendous majority given to President Roosevelt four years ago, was his leadership in repealing the Eighteenth amendment. It is well known that he received 25 per cent of the normal Republican vote on this issue alone. This issue no longer confronts the people. Repeal is a fact. The Republicans are now free to return to the party fold and the various straw ballots indicate they are returning. In addition to the redeemed Republicans there is also the disaffected Democratic element, which is rapidly organizing to plump for Landon, in protest to the radical departure Roosevelt has made from Jeffersonian ideals. All in all there is every reason, for Mr. Farley, who thought that five billions could not lose, to be extremely worried.

Lyman Weeks moved to Colfax Wednesday as he was unable to find a home in Nevada City or Grass Valley. It is stated there are ten Grass Valley families living in Colfax at present on account of a shortage of homes in this district.

Monte Newman Takes Witness Stand, Denies Murder Connections

Monte Newman, accused with his brother, Merritt, of having murdered Christian Myer, Sunday morning January 12, while Myer was defending his sweetheart Miss Gwendolyn Coats from assault, at the trial of the two brothers in the Superior Court yesterday afternoon took the witness stand in his own behalf.

He gave a circumstantial story of his flight with his brother from Grass Valley on Wednesday, January 15, but denied that he was on the Tahoe Ukiah highway on either the Saturday before, or the Sunday morning on which the fatal shot that killed Myer was fired. Regarding his movements for the three or four days prior to that shooting Monte Newman's memory as evidenced by his sestimony was clear. Early in the week preceding the murder, he testified, he and his brother had shot a deer in the vicinity of Bear Valley. They had returned to their home and on the night of January 10 had gone for the deer and brought it back in their car and hung in the cellar of his mother's house in Grass Valley.

Regarding the car and the pictures of it, Monte Newman identified it without hesitation. He also admitted using a gun which belonged to a friend, and stated that when they had left Grass Valley this gun was standing in the corner of the garage where they kept their car.

Asked by E. H. Armstrong, the two brothers' attorney, whether there were many children in the neighborhood, Monte said there was always a gang playing around and on further questioning stated that

Three Streets Need Mending Before Free Mail Delivery Here

Only three streets in Nevada City are now regarded by the United States postal inspectors as unsuitable for the use of mail carriers. This according to Postmaster Betty Martin West is virtually all that stands between Nevada City and free mail delivery. In an interesting half hour yesterday noon Mrs. West, in a talk before the Rotary Club, gave some amazing figures regarding the growth of business in the postoffice. The three streets that need side walks built or mended are Nevada, and Grove streets and a street on Coyote Hill.

The two things that Nevada City most needs, declared the postmaster are a new postoffice building and a free mail delivery. Regarding the latter she stated that it would probably require three carriers for a twice a day delivery and a routing clerk in the postoffice. She thought it would not require more than two men added to the present staff.

Regarding the need of a new post office, Mrs. West stated that there is now a large waiting list of sixty persons who want boxes. All the boxes are taken. By taking out one of the doors and adding thereby to the fire hazard, she could install 35 or 40 boxes more, but even that would not fill the need for more room.

She announced that the Narrow Gauge railroad, which holds the mail contract, now sends Nevada City's mail by truck from Grass Valley, and that it now arrives on time.

Regarding the growth of business in the postoffice, Mrs. West gave some interesting figures. The sales of stamps and stamped envelopes in 1930 amounted to $12,932, in 1931 to $13,178, in 1932, to $15,117, in 1933 to $17,405, in 1934 to $19,744 and 1936 to $21,143. This is a gain in five years of $8,210.

Domestic money orders issued last year numbered 18,600 and were valued at $169,428. All but a small part of these orders go to out-of-town merchants. This is an increase in value of money orders over 1934 of appriximately $38,000. The growth of out-of-town merchandise came as something of a shock to the members of the Rotary Club.

H. M. Leete was elected a new member of the club.

Supervisors View New Route To Washington

Fred T. Marsh, director of WPA work in this district yesterday conducted a group of supervisors and chamber members over the proposed snow-free route of a new road from the Junction into Washington. The groups consisted of Chairman E. B. Dudley of the board of supervisors, and Supervisors Cary S. Arbogast, Alex Robertson and Joe Frank. Engineers Marshall and Beacon of the WPA accompanied the party, Loyal Freeman, of the Grass Valley chamber of commerce, W. H. Griffith of the Nevada City chamber, H. M. Leete, and George Calanan were also of the party.

The new route proposed will have a grade nowhere exceeding 6 per cent as contrasted with the present road, which in places amounts to 18 per cent. It will be approximately two miles longer when completed, that is to say six miles in length, and will be 22 feet in width. Plenty of road metal lies along the proposed route. The survey leaves the present road about 100 feet below the junction and continues on an easy grade on the western slope of the ridge, rounding the ridge pursuing a northerly course into Washington creek canyon, where it joins the present road of the Giant King mine and enters Washington through the same lane as now used by that mine.

It is estimated that the road will cost approximately $102,000, of which the major portion will be for labor. The labor will be provided by the WPA. The county must provide road grading machines and bull dozers and the men to run them.

Fred T. Marsh estimates that there will be approximately 600 men enrolled in Nevada county for WPA labor this winter.

A new road into Washington, it is generally conceded, will mean a big revival of lumbering and mining and a tremendous increase in travel to Washington on the part of sightseers, sportsmen and recreational tourists. The whole region will benefit from these activities.

THIRTEEN SPORTSMEN UNLUCKY PATROL CAR

Thirteen local sportsmen purchased the red Grass Valley patrol wagon No. 57, from the Whiskerinos, and spent the first day of the hunting season in Bear Valley. Several saw fine deer but missed them. To cap off their bad luck coming home the machine ran out of gas coming up the grade on the Tahoe Ukiah highway and as one member stated nothing passed them after they ran out of gas. Finally after securing gasoline the group sitting in the rear were nearly overcome from monoxide. gas poisoning.

Lost in camp it seems was the siren and police gong.

Listed among the purchasers are Jim and Tom Kistle, Frank Williams, Charles Hosken, Everett and Charles Kistle, Al Silva and three or four from the Zeibright mine.

HUNTERS BRING HOME THE DEER

Local hunters have been quite successful in bringing some fine bucks since the opening day, Tuesday. The first noted early Tuesday morning was a large three point buck killed by Melo Ungaro at French Corral. He was accompanied by Ernest Browning.

Al Huson killed a two point buck in the Relief Hill district. In the party were C. T. Larsen and Howard Penrose. It is reported Bert Davidson also brought in a fine deer.

Pete and Leslie Orzalli and John Marks have gone to Plumas county for a few days hunting. John Tognarelli, Herbert Skeahan, Fred Reed, Ray Arbogast left Tuesday for the North Bloomfield district to spend a few days hunting.

State Game Warden Earl Hiscox stated yesterday that he had seen fine deer killed by the following hunters: Barney Foiri, Grass Valley, three point buck in Pleasant Valley; Aden Wright, Smartville, 4 point buck, at Indian Springs; Asa Fippin, of the Rough and Ready district, killed a five point buck at Pet Hill, and John Linn, killed a three point buck east of Nevada City.

CHAMBER WILL MEET MONDAY

Fred E. Conner, president of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, announces that the meeting next Monday evening will be of special interest, since the committee in charge of promoting a new road into Washington will make its report. There are several other matters of importance to be considered and all members are urged to attend.

LAVA CAP VOTES FIRST DIVIDEND OF 2 CENTS

Cash distribution of its first divident, at the rate of 2 cents per share totaling $50,000, has been voted by the board of directors of Lava Cap Gold Mining Corp., Otto E. Schiffner, general manager, Box 780, Nevada City. Sidney Wood, Jo., was elected a director. A large group of eastern investors in Lava Cap are expected to inspect the company holdings late in September.

GIANT KING MINE

The road to the Giant King mine near Washington has been repaired and work started in clearing up the old workings, where it is reported good ore has been opened up. Mr. Luce, Reno, Nev., who is interested in the mine visited the property Sunday. It is reported the company has incorporated.

County Mines Payroll Now $384,300 Monthly

During the past month employment in Nevada county mines has taken another upward turn. There are now 2745 men employed in the county's mining industry and the monthly payroll has been upped to $384,300. Operation of the Giant King near Washington, of Gold Tunnel in this city, and of the Watson mine east of Nevada City has been resumed during the past few weeks. In recent weeks Idaho Maryland has added 100 men to its working forces, the men employed in the North Star-Empire and Pennsylvania have been increased to 800, and the Spanish mine, belonging to the Bradley interests, above Washington, now employs 45.

JIM MINE

The shaft has been sunk an additional 135 feet at the Jim Mine near Graniteville and a station cut. Drifting on good milling ore is in progress. The mill is operating two shifts. Charles Columbo of southern California is in charge of operations and has 12 men employed.

MABEN HILL PROPERTY

One shift composed of four men is drifting north at the bottom of the 100 foot shaft on good ore. A large amount of new machinery and equipment, part of which is an eight ton mill, hoist, and compressor, have been installed at the property. It is located in southern Nevada county.

LIVE YANKEE PROPERTY

The head frame at the Live Yankee mine south of the city limits of Nevada City is practically completed. The new company has signed up for power and poles have been distributed for the line. An electrically equipped pump will be used to unwater the 417 foot shaft. The shafe is being re-opened rapidly, it had been filled with rubbish for some distance. A heavy flow of water hindered operations in former years. E. C. Uren, mining engineer of this city was in this shaft in 1896 when it was being operated by Capt. Geo. A .Nihell and states there are good showings of ore in it.

The company plans to start a building program as soon as the head frame is coompleted. The buildings will be a compressor house, blacksmith shop, hoist house and a five room bungalow.

IDAHO-MARYLAND MINE

Through a steady program of expansion the Idaho-Maryland mine, northeast of Grass Valley, has added a hundred men in the last few weeks. The immense tailings plant being constructed on the property is practically completed and will handle about 300 yards of slimes and tailings per day.

Considerable activity is noted at the Stockton Hill mine south of Grass Valley. Two shifts are employed in the mine development. New machinery has been added to the equipment. Hal Draper is in charge of the mine.

Is It The Year Of Fate?

(Contributed)

President Roosevelt seemed to lack his usual self-assurance when he delivered his radio speech, reporting on his alleged non-political trip into the drought area.

Maybe he was irritated because the country has sensed that the trip was political; that it was politicaaly timed, that politicians everywhere were asked to meet the President.

Or, perhaps he was annoyed because someone let out the secret that the drought committee which was supposed to visit the stricken area to prepare a report fixed up its recommendations before any member left Washington.

Or, on the other hand, he may have realized that the country wouldn't accept his program without giving Governor Londan credit for having blazed the way. The Roosevelt program of promises now is essentially what Landon has carried into effect in Kansas.

Roosevelt promises; Landon performs. Roosevelt still is in the stratosphere; Landon has his feet as firmly on the ground as ever. The hulabaloo of an election campaign hasn't changed the man. A man who can withstand that is the man of the hour for this nation. Vote the New Dealers out and vote Landon in.

Praise, Indeed

About the worst the Democratic press can bring itself to say about Governor Alf M. Landon is that hs is a poor campaigner. He may be all right, they admit, just "talking to the folks" but he doesn't "put his speeches across." The Dallas News is convinced of one thing. It proclaims: Landon "is a poor speaker."

The Gadsden, Ala., Times opines that Landon "has none of the oratorical gifts of a Franklin D. Roosevelt," and all of this is very interesting for two fundamental reasons. First, these papers apparently find nothing to dispute in the substance of the Landon speeches, especially when he brings home the lesson of hidden taxes. Next, they inferentially draw attention to an important factor in the campaign.

Landon, a man of the people who all his life has had to work, hasn't had time to cultivate the oratorical flourish and polish that Franklin Delano Roosevelt labors so much to perfect. But he has a gift for simple, direct speech that anyone can understand and which, as the people of Kansas have learned, means what it says.

Nor is it any wonder that the Roosveltian radio manner is acclaimed, even by the lesser critcs. As those two ardent supporters of the administration, Pearson and Allen, have revealed in "How the President Works" (June Harper's), Mr. Roosevelt carefully rehearses all his radio performances.

"So what?" you ask. Landon's speeches are a deeply sincere effort to be himself; the Roosevelt manner is an effort to be what the directors think will make the best radio performance. If we want a crooner in the White House, let's elect Cantor. If we want a business man, let's elect Landon.

KNIFE IN LIGHT

While Ed Roberts, mechanic at the Broad street garage, was overhauling a 1923 Chandler car a few days ago he found a rusty pearl-handled pocket knife in the head light. It had evidently been in the reflector for a long time and doubtless gave the owner many worries as it rattled about.

GROVE STREET IMPROVEMENTS

Superintendent H. Hallett has finished oil paving Grove and upper Main streets until they are smooth as boulevards. Grove street was widened and leveled early this spring. Crews are working on Clay and Spring streets and if the weather continues fair the work will be completed in short order.

SNEATH AND CLAY MINE

It is reported the Sneath and Clay property on Gold Flat is being worked by leasors. The mine was reopened recently after being closed many years. Ore will be milled on the property as it is mined.

SPRING HILL MINE

Superintendent Don C. Billick of Nevada City has crews developing and blocking ore on several levels in the Spring Hill mine inl preparation for a program of production. As soon as enough ore is ready for milling the mill will start again.

GOLD TUNNEL PROPERTY

Several men are engaged in sinking a shaft just back of the R. J. Bennetts park in Nevada City on the Gold Tunnel property. A diamond drill has also started test holes to determine ore bodies. A large part of this property was purchased by the Newmont Mining Company several months ago and they started this program of development within the past ten days.

LOWELL HILL PROPERTY

The tunnel is in 1600 feet and within 150 feet of the old workings at the Lowell Hill mine. J. E. Andersen is in charge of the property which is east of Nevada City.

LAVA CAP MINE

Superintendent Otto Schiffner states he is still employing 250 men at the Central and Banner shafts on the Lava Cap propertty. Ore is trucked from the Central to the Banner and the output is 300 tons of ore per day. The 7,500 foot tunnel between the two shafts is in 5,000 feet and will be completed the latter part of November. This tunnel will do away with trucking ore. Silver and gold are found and about 15,000 ounces of silver is produced each month in connection with the gold recovery.

MINERS FACE BURNED

Herman Belknap, employed at the Gracey mine south of Nevada City suffered badly burned eyes, face and neck Monday when he attempted to throw in an electric switch at the mine. As there was no room at the Nevada City Sanitarium he was rushed to the county hospital for first aid and then removed to the sanitarium this afternoon. Dr. B. W. Hummelt is attending the injured man.

RISING SUN PROPERTY

The shafe is unwatered to the 700 foot level at the Rising Sun property, south of the Idaho-Maryland mine, and it is expected the shaft will be de-watered inside of a week. A new ball mill and flotation units have been ordered for the mine. Thomas Coan and E. C. Uren, of Nevada City are superintendent and mining engineer respectively.

BUTLER INTERESTS SINK SHAFT AT SCOTIA MINE

The Cooley Butler interests of southern California are continuing sinking in the new vertical shaft at the Scotia property. It is down 300 feet and will continue to the 500 foot level to contact a tunnel or cross cut being driven from the Golden Center mine. The property is at Grass Valley's western limits beside the Gilmore airport.

It is assumed the main plant of the Golden Center mine will be moved from its location down on the stream in the heart of Grass Valley to this new vertical shaft. Mining and development continues in the Golden Center mine, also. L. S. Wincapaw is superintendent.

DELANEY PROPERTY

Messrs. McCumber and Jack Mauri have sunk nearly 70 feet in the new shaft on the Delaney property about two miles west of Nevada City. The vein is two feet wide and assays well. Fire burned their camp last summer and the men are gradually getting the place in shape again.

TVA Goes Wild

Congress appropriated $50,000,000 for a two year period for TVA. In the first 18 months the expenditures had amounted to $110,000,000, with the government now obligated to spending $379,000,000 as a minimum of cost.

HALF MILLION TO EQUIP BAY SPAN ELECTRICALLY

SAN FRANCISCO. Sept. 17.—Electric facilities costing $550,000 are being installed along the 8¼ mile, double deck San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, now nearing completion and scheduled to be opened next November.

This great electric system is being put in by the California Toll Bridge Authority, which is building the $77,200.000 structure. The equipment will include an elaborate illumination system for the bridge roadways and approaches, aviation beacons, navigation lights, and signals, mechanical devices for handling automotive traffic and recording tolls, modern office aids and conveniences for the administratice building, telephone lines linking all key points on the span.

Electricity will be furnished by P. G. & E. from two sources—in San Francisco and Oakland. The distribution network will require 111 miles of wire and cable, 28 miles of conduits and ducts, 6 substations and 18 transformers, a control board 28 feet long by 7½ feet high.

Incidentally, this $550,000 installation will be only part of the electrical program for the giant structure. In addition there will be extensive power facilities to operate Southern Pacific and Key System trains for commuters.

The bridge roadways and approaches will be lighted by 1008 luminaries of the latest type. Nine hundred and twenty four of them will use sodium vapor lamps, which produce a soft yellow light that is free from glare or flickering. The remainder will use Mazda lamps.

The six lane automobile roadway on the upper deck will have a double row of 1000-candlepower sodium vapor lights, the three lane truck route on the lower deck a single row of 600 candlepower fixtures. Similar units of varying capacities will light the eastern mole and approaches.

Sixteen 1000 candlepower Mazda lamps on steel standards will illuminate the San Francisco entrance to the bridge, known as the Fifth Street Plaza. The Toll Plaza, a little more than a mile from the Oakland shoreline, will be made brilliant by fourteen 1500 candlepower Mazdas. Fifty four more incandescent units will be used in the San Pablo underpass.

Lighting for aviation will consist of six 1000 watt rotary beacons—one on each of the suspension span towers and two on the cantilever section—plus four 400 watt flashing beacons on the trussed spans over the East Bay channel. They will be equipped with apparatus that will automatically put in a new lamp the moment an old one burns out.

As navigation guides there will be sets of green and white lights at both ends and the center of the main spans, with red and white lights on every pier. Fog warnings will be sounded by five huge bells and six sirens, all operated by electricity.

The Toll Plaza with twelve lanes for automobiles and four for trucks, will be a showplace of mechanical marvels. In each lane will be an electrical device that will count vehicles and immediately transmit the figures to a recording tape in the accounting office. Cash registers will have special keys denoting the various classifications of machines and the number of passengers they carry. When an attendant rings up a toll charge and presses the classification key, details of the transaction will appear in electric lights on two large boards so inspectors may check them. Meanwhile the figures will be flashed on a small panel in plain view of the driver of the car. Similar records will be made by the electric scales for trucks.

One of the wonders of the administrative building will be the control board for the span's electric network. On it will be an exact reproduction of the bridge, with tiny lamps corresponding to all the lighting units along the 8¼ mile stretch. By means of these the operator can tell at a glance if the lights are working properly. In the offices there will be a great variety of automatons to keep track of revenues, tabulate traffic data and do many other jobs. For the convenience of the staff at mealtime, six small electric cookers will be put in.

The telephone system will have 22 police telephones, 6 substation phones, 49 plug in stations and 11 open transmitters.

Installation of $550,000 worth of permanent electric facilities on the bridge recalls the tremendously important part played by electricity in the construction of the span. As soon as the surveys were finished the P. G. & E., at a cst of more than $50,000 made power available to contractors by laying 25,000 feet of four inch cable across the floor of the bay. And from the very beginning electricity was used to operate the hoists and derricks, conveyors, concrete mixers, pumps, air compressors, welding equipment and other time-saving machinery that could not have been employed otherwise. In fact, kilowatts did so many jobs on the structure that the official journal of the State Department of Public Works recently said:

ZEIBRIGHT MINE

The immense steel headframe has been completed over the shaft at the Zeibright mine east of Nevada City. It is located half way up the mountainside which is being mined through two or three long tunnels and the shaft. Reports are good quality milling ore has been encountered in new development. The mill is treating 350 tons of ore per day and is to be worked up to the 500 ton capacity of the plant.

GOLD TUNNEL PROPERTY

Several men are engaged in sinking a shaft just back of the park of R. J. Benett in Nevada City on the Gold Tunnel property. A diamond drill has also started test holes to determine ore bodies. A half interest in this property was purchased by the Newmont Mining Company several months ago.

DEPOT AND INDIAN HILL GRAVEL PROPERTIES

Mr. Fred Joubert, superintendent of the Depot and Indian Hill gravel mines, states that ditches are being placed in readiness for early spring and summer operations. It is thought about 40,000 yards of gravel was moved last year in hydraulic operations. Both properties are on the same channel and monitors, were used at each one. Nine men were employed at the height of the season.

FARM BUREAU OPPOSES CHAIN STORE LICENSE

STOCKTON, Sept, 17. — Directors of the San Joaquin Farm Bureau Federation, one of the largest county Farm Bureau organizations in the United States, are on record today as being opposed to Proposition No. 22, the retail store license act which will appear on the November ballot.

In a resolution which was opposed by only two of the 23 directors, the proposition is termed a proposal to use the taxing power of the state in an "unsound and discriminating manner." It emphasized that the proposed tax would add an additional cost to the distribution or agricultural products.

The resolution sets forth that California agriculture needs the widest possible distribution of its products and has always sought to decrease the cost of distributing its products. It argues that agriculture would be injured by "any increased cost between farm and consumer whether it be reflected in lower prices to producers or decreased consumption caused by increased prices to consumers." It deplores the use of the taxing power of the state to unnecessarily curb business activity or to discriminate between business of the same type.

ORIENTAL PROPERTY

A strike of high quality milling ore was reported from the Oriental mine at Alleghany Saturday with no indications of extent or approximate value obtainable at this time. The mine is being operated by F. F. Cassidy of Nevada City and Ray Hawkins of Alleghany, under a lease. Development operations started recently and only a short distance had been made in the tunnel when the discovery was made. William Hooten, operated the Oriental for some time and spent between thirty and forty thousand dollars, it is reported, in developing the property. It is stated he found some enrichments, but it remained for Messrs. Cassidy and Hawkins to extend the new work only 30 feet to encounter this discovery. Mr. Cassidy spent Wednesday at the mine.

SAN FRANCISCO MAN WITH CLIFF DE BERRY

Cliff deBerry of Grass Valley announces that, due to increased business activity, he has engaged Mr. P. A. Phillips of San Francisco as salesman. Mr. Phillips has had 15 years experience as appliance manager in a department store in San Francisco and brings many progressive ideas with him to Nevada county.

CAMPTONVILLE

By ACTON M. CLEVELAND

CAMPTONVILLE, Sept. 15.—Sargent Chapman returned to Sacramento a few days ago after a brief visit with his grandmother.

Postmaster Lydia O. Groves, Mrs. Olive Groves and William Groves motored to Grass Valley Saturday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Kendall and Miss Merle Horwege of Hammonton spent the week end visiting their home here.

Andy Massa has moved from the Tannery Ranch and is now residing at the Woods residence on Main street.

Traffic Officer A. J. Ponta, of the Downieville area, passed through Nevada City yesterday having been called to headquarters in Sacramento. It is possible he may be called to assist in striking areas.

SURPRISE PARTY

Mrs. Agnes Hosken of Nevada City was given a delightful surprise at her home last evening when the V. F. W. Auxiliary members gave her a party, it being her birthday. Mrs. Hosken is a charter member and has been a faithful worker. She is practically recovered from a severe sick spell. After a happy social time dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. Hosken was presented with a nice gift by the members.

Two Mighty Fine Towns To Live In!

Do you fully appreciate the glorious scenic settings of Nevada City and Grass Valley—its climatic charms—its invigorating foothill air—its abundant invitation to live and enjoy life!

Do you fully appreciate the thoroughly metropolitan atmosphere emanating from beautiful churches, fine schools, libraries, dignified business districts of up-to-date offices, modern shops, stores and theatres! Do you fully realize the worth of our beautiful parks, emerald-green in verdant beauty? Does the "song of the stamps," pounding out their golden stream, familiarize you with the worth of your mining district—and its treasure-box background of fascinating history?

Our pride in Grass Valley and Nevada City is steeped and mellowed in our existence of over 60 years. The Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad has proudly watched the "twin cities" emerge from the cocoon of mining camp to established village; from village to thriving, ambitious town; from town to busy, bustling, prosperous city.

Travel far and wide. Look well to the offerings of hamlet and metropolis. Make your comparison! Then will you experience the full enjoyment of pride in your reference to Grass Valley or Nevada City as "MY home town!"

Breuners Celebrate 80 Years of Service

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 17.—Nevada City boasted a thousand houses and 79 saloons the year John Breuner opened a one-room cabinet shop and furniture store in Sacramento.

Today, from the five Breuner stores in Northern California, thousands of pieces of home furnishings go out daily to customers throughout this area.

John Breuner, 27 year old German youth, builded better than he knew when he started in business here. He little suspected that 80 years afterward, his son and five grandsons would be operating a business with 700 employes. When he opened his Sixth and K street store he hired two assistants; at the time of his death in 1890, he had seven employes including his two sons.

When he first went to work for Breuner's 29 years ago, Fred Breuner, who hired him, told Fred Glick, "Your job's to keep the fire going ,son." Now he's a mattress maker and upholsterer.

Breuner's has grown with the state. In 80 years it has seen the state capitol built, the advent of the first transcontinental railroad system, witnessed the beginning and ending of three wars—Civil, Spanish-American and World—and has stood strong through depression as well as prosperity.

Now, as the 80th anniversary rolls around, Breuner's is looking forward to giving the best years of its life to Northern California.

Louis F. Breuner, son of the founder and president of the company, is planning for a future bigger than the past. Aiding him are his sons, Louis J., vice president of the firm with headquarters in Oakland; Clarence H., general manager in Sacramento; R. W., sales manager in Oakland; W. E. furniture buyer in the Oakland store; Robert A., basement manager in Sacramento.

FORMER RESIDENT PASSES

Friends in Nevada City have received the sad news of the passing recently of Mrs. Mary McKenna McKay in San Francisco. She was a native of this city and attended the schools here and was beloved by many for her warm lively disposition and numerous kindly deeds. Her parents died when she was a very young child and was raised by her grandparents the late Mr. and Mrs. John Grimes respected citizens of this community.

She leaves to mourn her loss a devoted husband James F. McKay and a sister Mrs. Lyda M. Wood both of San Francisco.

Mr. McKay has recently retired from a responsible government position that he has held for a number of years. Friends of Mr McKay from the Presidio acted as pall bearers at the funeral of his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. N. Ott returned home Sunday evening from one of the finest trips they have ever had. First they journeyed up the redwood highway traveling over 100 miles through giant redwood trees. Mr. Ott stated it was a godsend that the women of California took up the "save the redwoods" movement, to which the Nevada City Womans Civic Club regularly contributes. They went through Ashland, over to Klamath Lake, Oregon Caves, and into Washington. Mr. Ott urged that everyone visit the never-to-be-forgotten caves. The old story is that a man shot a bear and it crawled into the cave. The man followed, finding this marvelous underground cavern. Sixteen persons to a party were escorted through the cave, every other one carrying a carbide light.

They visited San Francisco, visiting the state fair at Sacramento on the homeward trip. Mr. Ott states he had never seen the country so prosperous. In all his travels he was never approached by any one for a meal or help of any kind not even in San Francisco where one usually expects to be pan-handled two or three times a day.

Many miles of the main highway throughout the north are being resurfaced before winter sets in.

Verle Gray who has been manager of the municipal swimming pool for the season and also swimming instructor, leaves tomorrow morning for his home in Lodi. Mr. Gray has accepted a position in one of the fruit companys.

HOME OWNED PRIZE IS WON IN NEVADA CITY

Mrs. Gwendolyn Anderson, daughter of R. L. P. Bigelow, of this city, won the $15 cash prize offered by the Home Owned Business association in this county. She got the winning ticket in a local grocery store. The next cash award will take place October 1.

GRASS VALLEY RESIDENT DEAD

Spede Fodja, aged 42 years, of Grass Valley passed away at 11:30 yesterday forenoon at the county hospital. A relative has been contacted in San Francisco and was expected to arrive last night to make funeral arrangements. The remains are at Holmes Funeral Home in this city.

A Glimpse of Building Activity

Vol. 1. SEPTEMBER 17, 1936. No. 43.

Nevada City's new Standard Service Station is beginning to look very fine with the clear redwood fences in the grounds about filled up to grade.

Before the fall rains set in would be a good time to inspect your roofs for needed repairs or replacements. Our stock of roofing materials include the Pabco line of Composition Shingles, well known and well liked, Cedar and redwood shingles, and sugar pine shakes.

Our advice on your roofing problems costs you nothing and may save you money.

Contractor Bob Steger is framing in the new residence of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Penrose on Pine street. The residence will be of stucco finish and commands a fine view as it is on top of a hill.

Our Murphy line of paints is "going over" with a bang and if you have any painting to do around the house you will be agreeably surprised if you will try Murphy's on the next paint job.

Contractor Ralph Cochrane has commenced work on a new residence for Dr. and Mrs. Hummelt on A street near the Gillet Nurseries. This new home will have steel sash as one of the newer construction ideas and will incorporate new ideas in plan.

RODENTS - DISEASE HELP IN TREE CONSERVATION

BERKELEY, Sept. 17.—Custom and tradition have taught that squirrels and mice, enemies of mankind and should be relentlessly hunted down and killed, and that disease should be checked under all circumstances wherever it may be found. A decidedly different picture is presented, at least as far as our forests are concerned, by the recently published book on "Forest Insects," of which Dr. E. C. Van Dyke, professor of entomology in the University of California, is a co-author.

In the book it is shown that squirrels and mice play a very important part in preventing the destruction of forest trees, and that some forward looking scientists have even called on disease bearing agencies in order to check destructive forest pests. Squirrels, shrews and mice gather hibernating insects, especially pupae, and store them for food. Chipmunks gather immense amount of the predatory Pandora moth and likewise store them against the rainy day. One authority states that mice are the most important enemies of the prepupae of the larch sawfly in the cocoons during the winter.

It has been found that certain fungus and bacteria attack and kill insects that destroy trees, and are of considerable importance in this regard. Massachusetts scientists in one experiment, succeeded in destroying 60 per cent of the larvae of the browntail moth by artifically infesting them with the complaint known as Entomophthora aulicae. Bacterial diseases of insects have been little studied, but appear to have great possibilities. Wilt disease, which destroys gypsy moth and some other caterpillars, is sometimes considered to be of great economic importance.

As the destruction of trees by insects is now estimated to exceed the huge total of $200,000,000 in the United States annually birds disease, rodents and insect parasites have taken on a new significance. But the problem of biologic control of forest pests remains a big one and much work remains to be done on the subject.

COUNTY FAIR OCTOBER 10

The Parent Teachers Association of Nevada City have decided to hold their second annual county fair on October 10 and are formulating plans for it. The fair was an outstanding success last year and with great enthusiasm the Parent Teachers clubs are planning for a bigger and better fair this year.

NEVADA COUNTY EXHIBIT IS HIT AT STATE FAIR

W. H. Griffiths, secretary of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce who had charge of Nevada County's State Fair exhibit, reports that it was probably the finest exhibit this county has even made, and that he never saw such throngs of people at the fair. Nevada county's display of high-grade ore and of nuggets, he declared, made the booth a mecca for thousands daily.

The county won approximately $220 in cash prizes, winning first in gold lode ores, gold lode specimens, and in gravel gold. In the latter department was a display of nuggets that rarely is seen outside of a bank vault. Thousands of dollars were represented in this display.

Sparks has asked the District Finance Chairman sitting as a council committee to approve the budget for the year starting October first. This budget is being prepared by the Council Department Chairman, Finance, E. E. Covey; Camping, L. H. Reynolds; Educational Publicity, Dr. L. W. Empey; Advancement, W. T. Eich; Training, A. F. Carveth; and Reading Health and Safety, Judge George L. Jones.

Organization of new troops, use of Camp Pahatsi, fall training for the leaders and safety subjects will receive attention from the board.

GRACEY MINE

Sinking continues at the Gracey mine southeast of Nevada City with a good portion of the projected 200 feet being completed. Sulphuret tailings rfom the old smelting plant on the Ben Hall property near the New England mine on the lower Grass Valley road south of this city are being run through the Gracey mill for a test run to determine the values. If successful, tailings will be taken from several properties as this deposit of tailings extends from the Sneath and Clay over the Lotz, Bowers and Jack Norton ground to the Hall property. The company has installed a 4x4 Marcey mill and entire unit from the Ancho-Erie mine northeast of Washington.

CIVIC CLUB PLANS WORK AND PASSES RESOLUTIONS

The meeting of the Nevada City Woman's Civic Club held Monday evening was a very busy one. The ladies discussed plans for the year and decided to hold a "Relic and Hobby" show on Friday, October 2 to raise money to carry on their activities. Mrs. Ed Rose is chairman of the committee in charge with Miss Winnie Mulloy, Miss Lois Shaw, Mrs. George Legg and Mrs. George Calanan as her assistants.

The club unanimously passed a resolution expressing their feeling toward permitting any form of gambling in this city and advised that the president and secretary sign it, that it be written in the minutes and a copy of it be sent to the city council.

Feeling profoundly the loss of their late member and treasurer, Mrs. Jennie Hall, the club also unanimously passed a resolution presented by Mrs. George Calanan, in memory of Mrs. Hall and expressing sympathy to her bereaved husband and children. The resolution was ordered inscribed in the minutes and copies sent to the family.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Monday evening September 28.

Resolution September 14, 1936

WHEREAS the Woman's Civic Improvement club of Nevada City, since its inception, has been active in supporting and aiding all community enterprises that afford protection and recreation for all citizens and especially women, children and the young people, thereby raising the standard of home life, and

WHEREAS in the past this club has had the encouragement and cooperation of the city council and has been commended by your honorable board for its activities in assisting such institutions as the public library and such organizations as the Boy Scouts and the Campfire Girls and contributing to municipal swimming pool, which activities have tended to increase the recreational resources of the city and to inculcate good citizenship in the city's youth, and

WHEREAS there is now pending before the city council an application to install in its business section a "wide open" gambling game, expressly forbidden by state statutes, which certain elements in city will regard as the entering wedge for all kinds of gambling games and slot machines, since if one gambling device is permitted others can hardly be denied, and

WHEREAS any such permit to gambling interests, or acquiescence in gambling or other law breaking institutions, on the part of our city council, makes it difficult or impossible to teach our children to become law abiding citizens, and

WHEREAS it has been urged as an excuse for permitting, or ecquiescing in, the establishment of said gambling game, that the city government will profit, now therefore be it

RESOLVED that the Woman's Civic Improvement club is unalterabdy opposed to the establishment of any unlawful enterprise in Nevada City; that it deplores any attempt to condone law breaking because of any profit it might bring to the city treasury; that it regards a partnership between the city government and vice as intolerable; and that this club appeals to all law abiding and progressive citizens to support it in its opposition to the establishment in the city of all vicious and law breaking institutions which in the last analysis are not only destructive of good citizenship, but ultimately result in adding to the burdens of the tax payers.

WOMAN'S CIVIC IMPROVEMENT CLUB.

By Lily P. Leete, President.
By Irene Barron, Secretary.

VOTERS: Don't be fooled

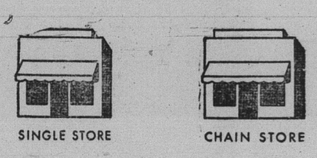
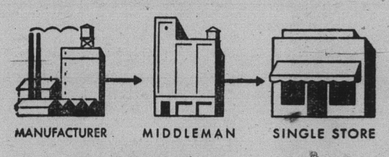
No matter what they call it...

22 IS A TAX ON YOU!

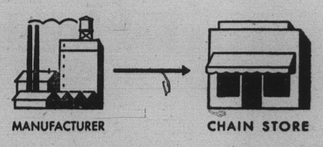
On the November 3rd Ballot there will appear as Proposition 22, an innocent looking measure called the "Retail Store License." But don't be misled. It's a 1936 model hidden tax...a new scheme to stifle competition and raise prices. This simple story of two stores explains the plot.



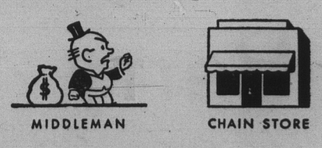
(1) Here are 2 California retail stores. On the outside they look much alike. Each does a good business. But one is a single store, the other has brothers and sisters and is called a chain store.



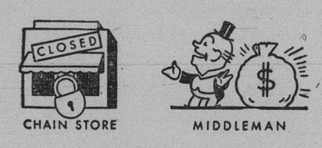
(2) The SINGLE store charges ten per cent higher prices, because it gives credit and delivery service and because it buys through a middleman.



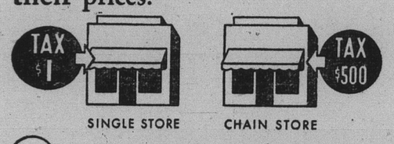
(3) The CHAIN store charges ten per cent lower prices because it eliminates all frills, unnecessary services and in-between expenses and buys directly from producer or manufacturer.



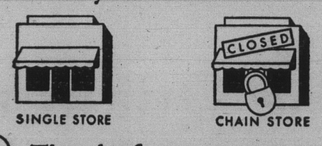
(4) You may remember, at one time the middleman sold goods to all retailers. That was when the high cost of living was our biggest headache. But today the chain store eliminates the middleman and the middleman's profits. So the middleman is opposed to chain stores (wouldn't you be—if you were a middleman?)



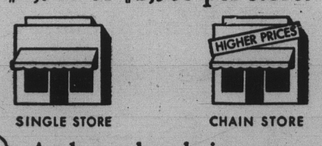
(5) The middleman realizes that people trade at a chain store chiefly because it sells for 10 per cent less. Since he can't compete with the chain store method, the middleman wants to put chain stores out of business or force them to raise their prices.



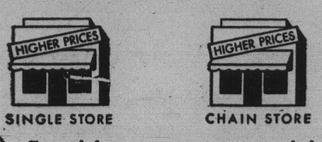
(6) Through the California Legislature he lobbies a bill called the "Retail Store License." This unfair bill would levy a special tax of $1.00 a year on single stores and $500.00 a year on chain stores.



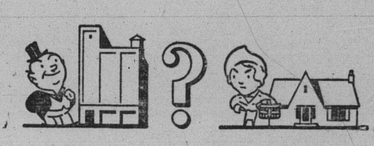
(7) That, he figures, may put the chain store out of business so its customers will be forced to pay the higher prices at the single store. If not, the tax can be raised later to $1,500 or $2,500 per store.



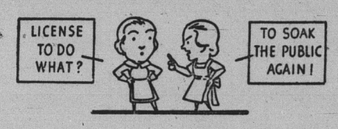
(8) At least the chain store will be forced immediately to raise its prices and thus lose business.



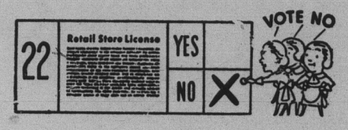
(9) In either case competition will be less. So the single store can raise its prices and still get more business. This means fatter profits for the middleman who sells to the single store.



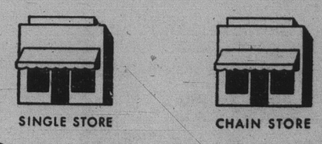
(10) Of course the public will pay for these profits through an increase in prices on the necessities of life. But it's just a question of whether the middleman or the public takes the rap.



(11) Who would suspect that an innocent thing like a Retail Store License was another scheme to tax the public and fatten the middleman's pocketbook? Voters might think it was some trifle like a dog license or a fishing license!



(12) But wait. Some of the public did suspect. Shortly after this hidden-tax bill passed the Legislature, 136,000 indignant California voters signed a petition that put it on the ballot at the next general election. Now the voters can say a word for themselves. We think that word will be "NO."



(13) So what it all adds up to is this: the innocent sounding Retail Store License is a scheme to subsidize the single store and wholesaler by taxing the public. 22 is a tax on you. Vote NO on Proposition 22.

Exhibit space has already nearly all been engaged, Cliff deBerry, Alpha Stores, Wm. Rumsey and Foote Electrical Company have all engaged generous space and are busy assemblying their fine exhibits of electric refrigerators, electric stoves, oil stoves and heaters, electric washers, and ironers besides very distinctive displays of the very latest in radios. These appliance and radio displays will be of the most attractive and interesting of the show. The modern finish and colorings of household appliances make them an artistic addition to any department of the home whether it be kitchen, laundry or living room.

Prizes contributed by the Grass Valley merchants will be given away. There will be twenty door prizes in addition to the fifty dollars in trade at the store of any exhibitor.

This years display will far exceed last years as many thousands of dollars worth of merchandise will be on display.

The household appliance exhibitors will have demonstrators present to show how to operate the various appliances such as washers and ironers.

The Grass Valley Garden Club will hold their annual flower show in conjunction with the Industrial Show.

MONTE NEWMAN TAKES THE WITNESS STAND

the garage was unlocked and that anyone might enter it at any time. This apparently was intended to explain testimony offered to the effect that the gun had been found weeks after the flight of the Newman brothers, in a blackberry patch adjoining Mrs. Newman's residence.

Regarding the reason for their flight, Monte testified that they set out to find work, but that at Marysville, they read in the paper of the murder and that the officers were looking for them. They decided, according to Monte that they would find work and accumulate money enough to defend themselves with. They went to Sacramento, to San Bernardino, to Yuma, to Prescott, and finally to Octave where they obtained work in a mine. There Monte stated he became ill of ptomaine poisoning and was several days recuperating. They then departed for Colorado, winding up in Leadville, where they were recognized and arrested.

Prior to Monte's taking the witness stand, a long statement by each of the brothers, taken in the sheriff's office on their arrival from Colorado, was placed in evidence by District Attorney Vernon Stoll. Through this statement, Attorney Armstrong selected a number of quotations asking the witness if he had made them. The district attorney objected on the ground that all the statements selected were all "self-serving", that is serving to emphasize the testimony favorable to the defendants. It required so long to read through the manuscript and pick out quotations for confirmation, that Judge Tuttle finally declared a recess until Monday morning. In the meantime he asked Attorney Armstrong to mark for questioning such parts of the manuscript as he desired testimony upon, so that the trial might proceed with out delay.

The court adjourned until Monday, because today is law and motion day, and Saturday only affords two hours for the trial, the afternoon being a holiday.

Younkers, employed at a Grass Valley hardware store, testified he sold .12 buckshot shotgun shells to Merritt and Monte Newman on January 7th, five days before the murder. He said the shells were similar to ones found by Deputy Larsen at the scene of the shooting.

E. H. Armstrong, defense attorney, asked the court to make an order prohibiting newspapers from summing up the evidence in such a manner that it might influence the jury. Superior Judge Raglan Tuttle said he would not take any action on the request but instead admonished the jurors not to be influenced by newspaper articles.

Miss Coats, the principal witness for the prosecution, was on the stand a comparatively short time Wednesday.

She identified Monte and Merritt Newman positively as the masked men who ordered her to lie on the highway last Jaunary 12th and shot Myer while he was protecting her from their advances.

In her story to the jury Wednesday afternoon Miss Coats referred to Monte Newman, whom she said fired the shot, as "the short man," and Merritt Newman as "the tall man."

She said while the car she and Myer were in was parked alongside the Tahoe Ukiah highway, ten miles west of here, the masked men drove up and stopped beside Myer's automobile.

"The tall man opened the door of our car on my side," she stated. "The short man had the gun. The tall man told me to get out and lie on the highway. Chris told them to leave me alone and said he would shoot them. The tall man said: 'Go ahead and shoot, partner! We'll shoot, too!"

"The tall man dragged me out of the car. Chris again told them to leave me alone, but when they wouldn't he offered them his wallet with about $1 in it. The tall man took the wallet and put it in his pocket.

"The short man pointed the gun at me. I got in the car and got a crank that was on the seat. I took the crank and hit the tall man on the head. Both were fighting with Chris. I hit the short man but it was only a glancing blow. The tall man then grabbed me and started to drag me and I heard a shot.

"Chris hollered, "They shot me!" The tall man went over to Chris and kicked him and started to hit him. He then went over to our car and lifted the engine hood up. I went over to Chris and the tall man came up and hit me under the chin. I rolled down the bank and hid behind a bush.

"I saw them both try to push the car over the bank. They looked for me but couldn't see me, and one of them said, "The dame is gone.' They got in their car and drove toward Nevada City."

Miss Coats then testified she ran along the highway towards Nevada City until she saw another car parked along the highway. The man and woman in this car drove her into Nevada City and she returned to the scene of the shooting with Undersheriff William Woods. Myer was brought to the Nevada City Sanitorium where he died several hours later.

District Attorney Stoll asked her whether she had seen the two men since the murder. Her answer was "Yes."

"When?"

"Are these men in the court room?"

Rising from the witness chair, Miss Coats pointed at the two defendants, seated near their attorney E. H. Armstrong, and said:

"Yes, in back of Mr. Armstrong."

Miss Coats' voice was steady. Monte and Merritt Newman betrayed no emotion when they directly were accused.

On July 7th Miss Coats identified the Newmans from among ten prisoners lined up in the sheriff's office here and also identified their voices.

Stoll asked her if she had ever seen the men prior to July 7th, except for January 12th, the date of the killing.

Her answer was "No."

"Did you know them?"

"No."

"You are not acquainted with them in any way?"

"No."

On cross examination Attorney Armstrong obtained from Miss Coats the admission that she was shown pictures of the two brothers by Sheriff Carl Tobiassen prior to leaving for Butte, Montana, on January 29. At that time she failed to identify them, but said the picture of Merritt resembled the "tall man." The picture of Monte, 36, was taken when he was about 18 years of age.
